Weekly Newsletter

Friday 22nd March

We believe that all of our students have the opportunity to thrive in our inclusive, nurturing and inspiring environment where they will grow into creative and confident learners without limits.

Dear Parents and Carers,

I hope you are all well and that you have had a good week. Thank you for attending the parent consultation meetings this week. Our teachers thoroughly enjoyed meeting with you all to share updates regarding your child's attainment and progress. It was also a pleasure to be able to share with you your child's books from across the whole curriculum so that you are able to see the wide and varied subjects that your child studies and the very high expectations that we have here at Ramsey Manor. Remember that we are always happy to meet with parents outside of these evenings so please do not hesitate to contact us to arrange a meeting.

We are rapidly heading towards the end of this term which is hard to believe! It really has whizzed by and our students and staff continue to show our school values each day in line with our school vision of 'Aspire, Achieve, Excel'. We have another busy and exciting week next week before we break for Easter.

Wishing you all a great weekend.

Yours sincerely,

Mr Colin Moore

Our current value is FORGIVENESS.

National Autism Acceptance Day

The 2nd April is National Autism Acceptance Day. As we will not be in school on this day, we will be celebrating this next Thursday 28th March. During the day we will be learning about Autism and what we can do to ensure that our friends and peers with Autism feel accepted. To help us celebrate, this will be a non-uniform day. The theme from the National Autistic Society is 'as colourful as possible' so we invite children to wear bright coloured clothes.

We wanted to take this opportunity to say a massive thank you to parents and carers for all of the feedback we have received following the open classroom events and the parent consultation meetings. It means a lot to us all and we truly value how much we are working together in partnership to support your child's education.
